Your Automotive Additive Specialists

Who is Envirotek?

Let's start with the motto – Australian Made and Made for the Trade. We are a specialised automotive additive company that's been manufacturing and distributing in Australia for more than 20 years. The roots of the business were laid in Germany before it expanded to manufacturing in Australia. We are now a 100% Australian-owned company offering products for workshops across the country. With blending, packaging and warehousing all in Brisbane, we have a strong base in the south-east Queensland market but we are looking for a more substantial expansion into the southern states.

As for the second half of the motto – Made for the Trade – Envirotek has solely been a trade-only product from the day of establishment. We are not in the business of selling to the retail market (your customers) and undercutting the industry that has helped us get to where we are today. You won't see Envirotek products on the shelves of major Australian parts suppliers, nor in the catalogues that find their way into your customers' letterboxes. This means you can have the absolute exclusivity of offering this Australian-made product.

The new Envirotek logo reinforces that we are still committed to combining technology and environment and to staying ahead of the rapid growing changes we see in our industry. For more details please call 1300 584 665 or email sales@envirotek.net.au
